Document ID: EN-REP-04 Department: Human Resources Survey Period: May 2026 Response Rate: 82% (1,148 of 1,400 employees) Distribution: Internal — Department Heads and Executive Committee

1. Executive Summary

The 2026 Employee Engagement Survey recorded an overall engagement score of 74%, an improvement of five percentage points on the 2025 result. The strongest scores were recorded for "pride in working for the Company" (81%) and "clarity of role expectations" (78%). The lowest-scoring area was "opportunities for career progression" (61%), consistent with feedback from the 2025 survey and now flagged as a priority area for 2026-2027.

2. Methodology

2.1 The survey was administered electronically over a two-week period in May 2026 to all permanent employees, using a standardised 40-question instrument covering seven engagement dimensions: leadership, communication, career development, wellbeing, recognition, teamwork, and pride in the organisation.

2.2 Responses were anonymous and aggregated at the department level for reporting where a minimum group size of ten respondents was met, in order to protect individual anonymity.

3. Key Results by Dimension

Dimension	2026 Score	2025 Score	Change
Leadership	72%	68%	+4
Communication	75%	70%	+5
Career Development	61%	58%	+3
Wellbeing	76%	71%	+5
Recognition	70%	64%	+6
Teamwork	79%	77%	+2
Pride in Organisation	81%	76%	+5

4. Departmental Variation

4.1 Distribution centre employees reported lower engagement on the Career Development dimension (54%) compared with corporate office employees (69%), suggesting a need for clearer progression pathways for warehouse-based roles specifically.

4.2 The Customer Service department recorded the highest overall engagement score (80%), which the Human Resources team attributes in part to the department's structured onboarding process and regular team recognition programme.

5. Open-Text Themes

5.1 Analysis of open-text responses identified three recurring themes: a desire for more transparent internal promotion processes, positive feedback on the expanded Remote Working Policy (EN-POL-06), and requests for more structured skills training for warehouse-based roles.

6. Recommendations

6.1 Develop a formal career pathway framework for distribution centre roles, in consultation with Supply Chain and Logistics leadership, for rollout in Q4 2026.

6.2 Continue and expand the recognition programme piloted in Customer Service to other departments, given its apparent association with higher engagement scores.

7. Approval

Submitted to the Executive Committee by the Chief Human Resources Officer on 30 June 2026.
